THE TERRITORIES.

A large brick warehouse is being erected at Walla Walla.

Hon. Hiram Smith, of Harrisburg, returns home to-day.

The Mormons in Utah expect to have a large surplus of wheat this year.

The assessment of Thurston county, W. T., as roughly estimated, foots up $1,637,775.

Colfax, W. T., wants a flouring mill badly. Any quantity of grain is raised in that vicinity.

Two soldiers deserted from Fort Boise last week, but were recaptured after a run of a few days.

Gov. Bennett, of Idaho, has arrived from the East with his family. Mrs. B. is in very poor health.

Portraits of Felix R. Brunot and the Peace Commission are presented in a late number of the Graphic.

Hon. O. B. McFadden, Delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, leaves to-day for Olympia.

A military company has been organized, with 40 members, on Patit creek, a few miles from Dayton, W. T.

Walla Walla county has $3,759 in her treasury and then county warrants outstanding, or were on the 1st, for $6,150.

Stable men and employes on the stage route from Kelton via Boise make use of "pub docs" for fuel, according to report.

The people of Colfax, W. T., have organized a military company 105 men strong. All the settlements pretty much, east of the mountains are now on a war footing.

Two runaway couples were taken a marine league from shore by an obliging steamboat captain of Olympia, the past week, and there, where no licenses are necessary, were duly married.

The Odd Fellows' Lodges, the Tiger Fire Company and citizens of Victoria offer a reward of $500 for the arrest of the murderers of Capt. Dwyer and his wife, on San Juan Island, last week.

The Bishop of Alaska left Sitka on the steamer of April 28th, for San Francisco, to procure material to build a Russo Greek church at St. Paul's, Kodiac. He left Father Nicholl in charge of the church at Sitka.

David Williams and Joseph Sachman, two boys aged about 16 years, on Saturday last shot a panther eight feet long at Lake Kitsap, Kitsap county. The animal made a desperate fight, but the boys were too much for him.

A few days since a large tree fell upon the cook-house connected with the logging camp of Messrs. Ellis & Foster, on the Nesqually river, and although there were some six or eight men in the house at the time none of them were injured.

A gentleman named McCabe, hailing from the Puget Sound country was at Walla Walla in the early part of last week for the purpose of buying a lot of work oxen. He succeeded in investing $1,800, and now has his cattle on the way to the Sound.

Times are reported brisk at Walla Walla. The Statesman says: Recently a large amount of money has been brought to this valley for the purpose of investment for the California market, and this fact alone has materially tended to relieve the money pressure.

The question of granting a subsidy to railroads as provided by an act of the Montana Legislature, is to be submitted to a vote of the people in the counties interested, at the next general election in August. It looks as if it would be unanimous in building a wide gauge to Corinne.

It is reported that a party of surveyors, who were going into the Palouse country for the purpose of making surveys, were ordered back by the Indians. At last accounts the party had fell back in good order and were camped on the Touchet. Surveyors are the pet aversion of the Indians, and hence we deem it probable that the report is correct.

For the last two years no fur seals have shown themselves in Sitka Sound; it is supposed in consequence of the heavy northeast gales that have prevailed. Before this, fur seals were quite numerous in those waters. The schooner Matilda, which arrived at Sitka sometime in April, reported seeing a large lot of sea otter bound northward.

A Spokane and a Umatilla Indian sat down to gamble for a Cayuse pony, at Walla Walla, last week. Spokane won, and as he made toward the prize the Umatilla did the same, and got on the animal's back first. He then took aim at the Spokane with his pistol and came near sending him to the happy hunting ground, if siwash gamblers go there. Spokane is badly hurt, and will probably die. Umatilla escaped.

While engaged in carrying water to the men employed along the line of the railroad in Pierce county, Mr. Chilson, formerly of the firm of Chilson & Atkinson, who had charge of the Tacoma House in Olympia at one time, was struck by a small sapling upon the head and instantly killed. A large tree near him fell and struck the sapling that fell upon him. The remains of the deceased were taken to Steilacoom, and buried in the Garrison burying grounds.

The Idaho Statesman of the 15th says: "These pests (Indians) are making their annual raids to the waters of the Payette and Weiser. A small band passed through here Monday from Fort Hall, and when asked as to their destination, replied that they were on their way to the Payette, where they expected to find others of their kind. While there is probably no occasion to feel alarmed, still it behooves settlers to be on their guard and watch the movements of these roving bands."

The horse disease is prevailing to a fearful extent at Walla Walla. The Statesman says: "In some of the stables every horse has the disease, and not one of the stables has escaped the contagion. From the country we have reports of the universal prevalence of the complaint. High up in the mountains, where the horses were free from contact with strange animals, the disease prevails to the same extent as in the lowlands, thus showing that it is epidemic in its character. Thus far we have heard of but two deaths—one in Hart's stable and the other a short distance below town."

Agent Simms, of the Reservation at Colville, reports the Indians in his jurisdiction are peaceable, and just now much more concerned about religion than war, and devote much of their time to prayer that ought to be occupied in providing means of subsistence. The constant shocks of earthquakes have impressed upon the Indians the idea that the world is soon to come to an end, and worked up to a high frenzy, they spend their days and nights in prayer. These Indians have recently built and completed with their own labor a large church edifice, and in this and other ways they give indication that their thoughts are of peace rather than war.

The Walla Walla Statesman of the 17th says: "On Sunday afternoon last, about 2 o'clock, a couple of Indians met a young man on the road near the head of Mill Creek, and asked him for tobacco. He told them he had none, when they called him a liar, and said they would take the tobacco away from him. They then started to carry out their purpose, but a party of white men coming along in the nick of time, the Indians became alarmed and fled as fast as their horses could carry them. These Indians, like the ones that participated in the attack upon Mr. Arrison's family, belonged to a band that was camped at the head of Dry Creek."

The Seattle Intelligencer says: "By the arrival in this city, on Wednesday last, of Col. Thomas B. Morris, Chief Engineer of the Pacific Division of the Northern Pacific Railroad, we learn that Mr. J. B. Montgomery has been given the construction of sixty miles of railroad, in addition to the forty he is now constructing. This sixty mile extension will carry the road down through this city within five miles of Mukilteo, according to the line surveyed. It is understood the work will be energetically pushed forward, although no time is fixed for its completion. We are also informed that in future the iron for the construction of the road will be shipped to this port direct from the Eastern States."

OREGON.

Salem is to have seven fire hydrants built immediately.

A gentleman from Linn county informs us that the late rains have been worth a million dollars to the farmers of the Walla[illegible] valley.

J. Quinn Thornton is to deliver a lecture in Salem on Salem Land Titles, at the request of numerous citizens who are specially interested in that subject.

A letter from Baker City says: "The Waldron Troupe are here. There is some excitement about Indians still existing. The weather is warm, the town lively and hotels all full."

Certain parties in Baker county are suspected of having basely murdered a Chinaman named George Hop Lee between Hog 'em and Gem City, a short time since, for his money. Poor John was found stabbed in several places, and had evidently only yielded up his life with a desperate struggle.

We are informed that the trial of Frank Dice for an assault with intent to kill Glass at Dallas, resulted in his acquittal. The man Dice is one of those mixed up in the feud which has been mentioned heretofore as existing in Polk county, and the Whitley crowd deem Dice's acquittal a victory for their side.

The Statesman of Thursday says: "Messrs. J. N. Matheny and James Glover, who have been absent for two or three weeks in Eastern Oregon, Washington and Idaho, returned home yesterday. They both look somewhat tanned in complexion, but in excellent health. Mr. Matheny informs us that so far as he could judge of matters, the stories and rumors in regard to danger from Indians in the country he visited are greatly overdone. The Indians, Spokanes, Nez Perces and Coeur d'Alenes are quietly living in their usual places, engaged simply in their usual spring avocations."

A letter from Baker City dated May 14th says: "The body of Geo. Horner was found yesterday at the head of Washington Gulch a few miles from Pocahontas. The body was in a tolerably fair condition considering the length of time it had lain out and was found lying in the open pine timber, partially dressed, the vest being partly off and two coats lying by the side of the remains. The body was brought to town and this morning an inquest was held. Verdict: Death from unknown causes. Various opinions exist as to whether deceased was murdered or not. The man Geo. Day was [illegible] handed to jail to await further developments."

Ex-Mayor Harris, who represents the Odd Fellows of British Columbia at the Grand Lodge meeting in California, telegraphs that British Columbia has been granted permission to establish a Grand Lodge.

Since the abolition of the Nanaimo police force the Siwashes get a surfeit of whisky. On Sunday and Monday last Mr. Fawcett and two special constables locked up 25 of the tribe for being in a glorious state of obfuscation.

The Colonist is informed that one of the Indians killed by the Superintendent of Police on the 29th ult., was chief of his tribe. This, as the reader will easily understand, makes the matter still more serious, viewed in the light of possible consequences.

Letter from Whitman County, W. T.

COLFAX, May 12, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

I understand from the Walla Walla and Portland papers that people down that way are becoming very uneasy about the citizens of this county. They expect us to be [illegible] by the [illegible] savages at any day. Undoubtedly these fears are excited only by those who know nothing of this country. The Modoc war has drawn the attention of every person to Indians, and wherever Indians are scattered through the country a bugbear is created. We have no reason to anticipate danger from the Indians here. As to the 1,500 collected at White Bluffs, there is nothing unusual in this. They assemble there every spring to fish, gamble, etc., which is not in the least indicative of hostilities. When they left there in bands of fifteen and twenty, instead of ordering the settlers to leave, as was reported, they returned to their different reservations, and are now attending to their little corn patches as usual. There are Indians here in town every few days, buying tools, farming implements, etc. Those on Peana-wawa and Alamoody have been gone for some time, but have returned to their lodges, and are working their corn crops. We have no excitement here only as we get it from abroad.

We have one of the finest counties on the Western slope,—both for farming and stock raising. A vast amount of the very best farming land is yet unoccupied. Now is the time for settlers who want good homes, and especially the man with the capital to erect and run a first-class flouring mill in the vicinity.

UNKNOWN.

A PRACTICAL JOKER SOLD.—Among the many expressmen, says the Omaha Bee, who congregate at the southwest corner of Farnham and Thirteenth streets, there are a few very practical jokers. One of these fellows played a very laughable sell on the business men and pedestrians on Douglas street recently. Starting his horse from Fourteenth street, he laid down in his wagon box, out of sight, and let his nag travel at a pretty good pace. At Thirteenth street several men rushed out to stop the horse, supposing that he was running away, as no driver could be seen. By means of one or two loud yells of "whoa!" and the flourishing of two or three hats, the animal was brought to a stand still. The expressman, with assumed surprise, then elevated his head, and pertinently inquired, "What the h—'s the matter?" The point was seen at once, and the self-sacrificing gentlemen turned and walked off, looking rather cheap, and muttering, "sold!" At Twelfth street a similar scene occurred, and so on down to Ninth. Each succeeding sell being witnessed with a peculiar gratification by the large number of previously sold individuals. At Ninth street, however, one indignant man picked up a brick and threw it at the expressman, but missing its intended victim, it struck the seat, and glancing, it hit the horse on the back, causing him to get up a real runaway, down to the foot of Douglas street, where, in spite of the efforts of the driver, who had thus been brought to his seat, the wagon collided with a lumber pile, breaking one of the shafts and two spokes of a forward wheel. So that, after all, Mr. [illegible] paid for his fun in the end.

A Sermon on "Spoils."

"To the victor belong the spoils," from which text behold a short sermon. It is not necessary to state the chapter and verse of any book where this text can be found. It cannot be found, nor any passage expressing a similar sentiment, in the Bible, nor in any well considered system of political philosophy. In those loose and licentious days when our ancestors, the robber-barons of Europe, were in the habit of raiding each other's domains, whenever it became necessary to replenish their exchequer, the sentiment seems to have prevailed to a considerable extent that, in politics as well as in war,—if, indeed, the two could be considered distinct from each other in those barbarous times,—the successful faction was entitled to hold absolute rule over the country, and aggrandize its members and perpetuate its power at the expense, and, if need be, at the peril of the entire community. But that idea disappeared with the civil and social system out of which it arose. Inconsistent with the development of Christian civilization, it took its place among the discarded maxims of a crude and uncivilized people, which the better and more conservative consciences of their descendants could not consent to tolerate. The peaceable and industrious people who founded the American colonies,—devoted to pursuits that did not tempt them to plunder and ravage their neighbors' possessions whenever they possessed the power to do so, lovers of law, good order and economical government—found no place in their political systems for a principle so subversive of justice and so dangerous to government itself. Nor had the pernicious idea effected a lodgment in the public mind when the Colonies severed their connection with the parent country, when the present national Constitution was framed, nor when Washington and the Adamses were in the Presidential chair. It can hardly be realized or conceived as a possible thing now, but it is a familiar truth, nevertheless, that in Washington's Cabinet were both Thomas Jefferson and Alexander Hamilton, the former a valiant opposer of the party that elected Washington and the latter the best exponent of the principles of Washington's party. The place occupied by Jefferson was above that of Hamilton and next to the Presidency itself. He was Secretary of State. As in the Cabinet, so in all branches of the civil service, men were chosen for official positions with reference solely to their qualifications and personal fitness to discharge the public trusts to which they were called. Public virtue was esteemed a natural result of private virtue, and no one thought of the possibility of making a good officer out of a good party man who was a bad man.

Nor did the fatal delusion, that a virtuous officer could be made of a vicious man, come upon the nation as soon as the vicious maxim which we have taken for our text was engrafted into the system of party morals which controlled the course of the Jefferson party under the rule of Jackson. The patronage of the Federal Government was used as a means of rewarding the members of the successful party for their services in the election, and although this was explained by the rugged maxim, "To the victor belong the spoils," it was understood that this sentiment, taken without qualification, was so contrary to the natural instincts of honesty as to need qualification. It was then [illegible] elaborated into the position that in a popular government the public affairs ought to be administered in accordance with the principles and views of that party which the people, by their votes, have approved. And since this end was most likely to be attained by placing in the public offices those who were themselves in hearty sympathy with the views and wishes of the people, it was claimed to be the duty of the successful party to remove all officers who belonged to the adverse party, and replace them with persons of his own and the people's faith. This was a specious argument, and although never satisfactory to the entire community, was, we venture to say, generally regarded as a valid and sufficient justification of Jackson's course. It was looked upon by many of the best and most far-seeing men of the country as a principle of action so liable to abuse as to be a menace to the good order and just administration of every department of the government; but it was rather this extreme liability to abuse than any inherent wrong in the maxim, as explained, that led to its condemnation. At all events it became a fundamental dogma of party politics, and although most of the evils predicted as the result of its adoption did actually follow, it was retained and entered into the dispensation of public patronage by the Republican party, when that party gained the ascendency.

It remained, however, for a later day, and for a new state of affairs, to develope the last and worst aggravation of the evils of this maxim. Its application is no longer a means of carrying into effect the popular will. It is not now to the victorious party that the spoils belong. The campaigns are conducted upon platforms of principles and the men whom the people elect to fill high positions in the Government are chosen as the representatives of certain principles as truly as they ever were. Such at least appears to be true generally, and is true except in those special cases where the manifest will of the people is thwarted by corruption. But the appointments to office are no longer made upon the basis of giving the offices to the victorious party. "To the victor belong the spoils," now means, in practice, to the victorious man belong the spoils; and he uses his position to reward his personal friends and retainers, not for their services to the party he represents, but for their services to himself. The patronage of the Government has come to be regarded as a perquisite belonging to the person of the dispensing power. Carrying back our civilization to the feudal times, and borrowing our morals from the robber-barons, we allow that it is right for our successful leaders to sell out the public trusts in payment for any service, however reprehensible in itself, that may have been done by any person, no matter how unfit he may be morally, or how at variance with the views of the people politically. Party associations are nothing, intellectual and educational qualifications are nothing, personal character and integrity are nothing; the only thing worthy of consideration as a recommendation to official position are the ability and willingness to serve the successful man. Every reader of this paper will at once call to mind cases illustrating this, which have occurred in our midst. The indignation of community at these things is outspoken and general, but indignation that spends itself in wordy protestation is worse than wasted. Let the people seize the first opportunity to act.

The Ring Organ's Demagoguing on the Water Question.

About the only sensible thing we have known the Bulletin to say for a long time, is in its article yesterday morning, expressing the same opinion we expressed some time ago, that the Water Works ought not to be purchased by the city on the terms specified in the ordinance. We see no reason to change our views long since expressed in the OREGONIAN on this subject. The purchase ought not to be made. We are truly glad to have an opportunity of giving the Bulletin credit for one correct position, though taken so long after we had taken it. Better late than never.

But it seems utterly impossible for that paper to say a sensible thing without marring it with some piece of shallow demagoguery. Its editor is like the kicking cow that never gives a pail of milk that she does not spoil by putting her filthy foot into it. He couples with his good and valid objections to the purchase of the Water Works, a mess of senseless and absurd bosh about the connection of that subject with the election of city officers. This is simply ridiculous. The ordinance providing for submitting the question to the people—which, by the way, was we believe, drawn up by a member of the Bulletin ring,—makes complete provision for all the details of the proposed transaction, and leaves nothing to be done except for the people to vote on the question. There is nothing more for the Council to do one way or the other, except to carry out the provisions of the ordinance already passed in case the citizens so vote, and to drop the matter altogether if the citizens vote not to purchase the works. The question of making this purchase has nothing whatever to do with the question of who shall be city officers. The two questions will be voted on at the same election, but further than this they have no possible connection. We apprehend the officers to be elected, no matter by whom they are nominated, will consider it to be their duty to obey the will of the people, when that will is clearly and fairly expressed by a direct vote upon the proposition under consideration; and that too, whether the result of the vote is in accordance with the individual views of the officers or not. Any person who would not be willing to obey the explicit instructions of the people, whose servants all officers are, is unfit for his position. President Grant's noble sentiment, "I have no policy to enforce against the will of the people," ought to be the sentiment of every representative officer, from the highest to the lowest.

The Capitol Grounds at Salem.

The important question is very much discussed in this city by a large number of our citizens as to the sufficiency of the site selected for the new State Capitol at Salem. The grounds, it is said, are too small. We sincerely hope the Board of Commissioners to whom this work is confided will exercise proper forethought, and thoroughly address themselves to the subject, while the requisite quantity of ground can be secured at a comparatively low price. The grounds of the Capitol ought not to be so narrow as to dwarf the architectural effect of the building. Now is the time to consider this matter. Let the Commissioners give it proper attention. The people of Portland will contribute a very large share of the taxes for the construction of this building, and there seems to be but one sentiment here: let there be ample grounds, and let the building be one that will do credit to our State. We need not finish it this year nor next, nor the next. Lay the plans broad and deep, and let a half dozen years or more be taken to complete a building that shall have individuality and character to it, and that our citizens can point to with pride for generations.

The Springfield Republican indulges in the following pleasant little thrust at Mr. Conkling: "The impertinence of these newspapers is past all belief. Even such a superior being as Mr. Roscoe Conkling is not safe from it. He must sometimes think that all the foundations of the earth are out of course when mere editors, creatures of the dust, comment upon his actions and even put questions to him, with as much freedom as though they were his equals and had the right. Fancy his feelings as he reads such paragraphs as this, which we find in the Utica Observer: 'We are waiting patiently to hear from the Hon. Roscoe Conkling on the subject of back-pay plunder. Since his burst of eloquence in regard to those gentlemen who had "written their names in the purple testament of bleeding war," our Senator has preserved an unhappy silence. Is it his purpose to pocket $5,000 of the money stolen outright from the people?' Fancy also the indignant emotions that swell his patrician breast, as he reads the open letters in which sundry brother Senators of weaker stuff have virtually acknowledged the right of the people to question them and exact an account of their official conduct. Doubtless he is moved to use toward these Senators the language of mingled rebuke and warning held by Senator Coriolanus of Rome on a like occasion:

> 'We debase
> The nature of our seats, and make the rabble
> Call our cares fears; which will in time
> Break ope the locks o' the Senate, and bring in
> The crows to peck the eagles.'"

The Springfield Republican has sounded the onset in the Massachusetts fight for the Governorship, and this is its prediction as to Butler's line of warfare. "Instead of bounding into the field with war-whoop and brandished tomahawk, as he did two years ago, he now means to ambush his enemies in the craftiest Modoc style. He does not now purpose speaking often from the stump—well knowing it was his own speeches that made his nomination impossible two years ago. But, of course, he will find it hard to keep still, and it may be safely averred that his petulant temper and his over-confidence in his own smartness will get the better of prudence in this important particular. Nor will he lack that sort of incentive which the outspoken comments of the newspapers always afford him, and which produce the same effect on this great statesman that a red bandanna does on the American gobbler."

A copy of The Oregon State Directory, by J. Mortimer Murphy, has been placed on our table. We have not had time to give the work a careful examination, and therefore must defer a more extended notice for the present.

Before its adjournment, the Delaware Legislature passed a resolution condemning the policy of the Administration in Louisiana matters, and extending the sympathy of the State to the insurrectionists.

Letter from Victoria.

VICTORIA, B. C., May 20, 1873.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

To one who has been absent from this city for nearly five years and recently returned, it is a matter of astonishment in the first place to notice how very little change is apparent as concerns local improvements or extension of city boundary, and, secondly, how vastly and beneficially different is the mode and system of carrying on the affairs of government. Instead of the two Colonies of Vancouver Island and British Columbia on the main land, each with a Governor drawing a salary equal to the President of the United States and surrounded with a staff of officials sufficient in number to administer the affairs of a country, with a population numbering as many millions instead of thousands, it has now but one Colony, and that presided over by a capable, practical gentleman, a bona fide resident and settler in the country, and content with the modest and reasonable compensation of $8,000 per year. Therefore, there is no denying the fact, that a much greater improvement has been accomplished, as regards the real interests of the Colony, than would have resulted from any extensive addition to the number of the buildings or other local improvement. It is very evident that the affairs of the Colony now wear a very cheering aspect, and those who have patiently remained here feel confident that Victoria has seen its worst days and has a bright future before it.

The citizens have been terribly shocked by the perpetration of the cowardly and foul murder of Capt James Dwyer and his young wife at San Juan Island last week. Dwyer was a member of Columbia Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F., and his brother members caused the bodies of both him and his wife to be brought over here for interment. It was a sad sight to see in Odd Fellows' Hall last Sabbath morning the two coffins placed side by side, containing each a victim to some demon's malice or avarice. A very large concourse of people flocked to see the remains as they lay in state. The countenance of each was placid and composed as if in sleep, though each bore the marks of violence. The poor girl was only twenty years of age, and it is evident that a few minutes before yielding up her own life her occupation had been that of fondly preparing for the very shortly expected time when her own babe should be ushered into existence; but alas! in her own person a double murder was committed. Who can imagine the horror of that scene! Her husband cowardly shot from behind his back, before her own eyes; no help at hand (their next neighbors lived at a distance of two miles), no ear to hear her agonizing screams but that of the murderer or murderers. And to him or them it was a signal of danger—the witness of the foul crime must be silenced. "Dead men tell no tales" doubtless flashed through the villain's mind, and in a few minutes the murderer was left alone with his victims. Had it been one of those brave American women accustomed to frontier life it is more than probable that the villain's crime would have been expiated on the spot, but this poor victim was an English girl, reared in comfort, and never before away from her relatives. She never thought of the loaded gun left by her husband in the corner of the room, or she might have lodged its contents in the murderer's breast, as he broke through the window after she had retreated into the house and turned the key in the door, it is supposed, after she had received her first wound in the side. The villainous murderer saw the gun, and finished his work by discharging it in her face and breast. This has been one of the most atrocious murders ever committed in any country. From the fact that Captain Jas Dwyer, having been an old resident here, had cohabited, for years, with a Hydah woman, it was at first supposed that the murder had been perpetrated by the Hydah Indians, in revenge for his having forsaken this woman; but it is now satisfactorily known such was not the case. Dwyer compensated the woman he left, to her entire satisfaction. She did not return to her people, but hired out as a domestic in a respectable family, for whom she is still working; and the poor woman was bemoaning and bewailing his sad fate with tears and lamentations distressing to witness, at the hall where the body lay awaiting burial. Suspicion now tends toward other parties and every effort will be made to bring the guilty parties or party to a just punishment. The Odd Fellows and other citizens here have offered $500 reward for their arrest and conviction, and it is to be sincerely hoped that the authorities on your side will see to it that competent detectives are set to work on the case, so that the gallows shall not be cheated out of its just dues,

H.

The Bulletin intimates that at some time we attempted to swindle a law partner out of twelve hundred dollars. A very natural inquiry would be, what has that to do with the matters under discussion between us? But we believe thoroughly in the doctrine that the personal character of a man is the true basis of his political character. A man who is a knave in private life will be a knave wherever he is placed, if he can be such with safety. We therefore waive all preliminary objections, pronounce the statement an unmitigated falsehood, and demand the proof. Don't hesitate to make it public. Investigation brings confusion to the guilty or to the false accuser of the innocent. Out with the proof, or confess that you have lied.

The New York Times mentions a curious question concerning the rights and powers of a railroad which has just arisen in Maryland. A company having abandoned a part of their line, a miner situated on the abandoned part has brought suit for a mandamus to compel the Company to relay the track. This action is brought under a statute of 1864, which gives any person aggrieved by a transportation company incorporated under the law of Maryland the right to a remedy in equity. The railroad company denied jurisdiction, but that plea was overruled. The case is a queer one, and its decision on its merits will be a matter of great interest.

General Boynton, of the Cincinnati Gazette, has gone forth upon the trail of one Cameron, to whom the surname is Simon. Boynton's estimate of Simon's honesty is not overgrown as his narrative will explain. He avers that Cameron was placed at the head of the Committee on Foreign Relations "only on condition that he resign immediately after his appointment, that once elected, he stubbornly refused to keep his part of the agreement." It is after such manner as this that the distinguished strategist wins and keeps his laurels of diplomacy. These statements, says General Boynton, are well known, and can be easily proven.

The eight hundred-dollar man of the Statesman always sneezes when the Bulletin's Custom House mendicant takes snuff. Yesterday he echoed as much of the Bulletin's silly nonsense as he had room for in his little seven-by-nine. The Bulletin of this morning we suppose will copy it, as that is the understanding between them. By the way, Crandall, when will that picture of "Burying the Hog" be out? Recollect we are a subscriber. Another question, if it is not impertinent. How is the Johnson family getting along?

The Bulletin in one column claims that it was not furnished with a copy of the call for the Committee of Twenty-seven, and in another column says that the call came to that office too late at night for publication. It came to our office late, and upon inquiry of the gentlemen who furnished it, we learn that copies were delivered to the OREGONIAN, Bulletin and Herald at the same hour on the same evening.

A Washington dispatch says that the Commissioner of Pensions has decided that no attorney will be recognized in a claim for increase of pension to a single minor already receiving an original pension, nor in a claim for increase of pension to minor children of officers. The return of the certificate of pension to the Commissioner, is the only requisite to the adjudication of the claim.

Important Land Operation.

The Pacific Land Company, a corporation recently formed in San Francisco for the purpose of buying and selling lands in California and Oregon, and composed of persons of the highest respectability, with H. F. Teschemacher for President, have just perfected a contract with the Oregon Central Military Road Company for the purchase of the road belonging to that company, together with their entire land grant, consisting of over eight hundred and fifty thousand acres, comprising some of the most fertile land in southeastern Oregon, and passing from Eugene City through the lake region to the borders of Idaho.

Miss Emily Faithfull left the United States for Europe, May 10th. The day before her departure, a banquet in her honor was given in New York city, by the White Star Steamship Company. As a memento of her pleasant journey hither, Miss Faithful was presented with an elegant gold watch made entirely by women in the Elgin factory.

Boston, besides her Jubilee Coliseums and Bazaars, has what she calls "The Anglers' Association of Smelt Protectors," whose chief function appears to be the protection of smelting works.

CELERY AS A CURATIVE.—Now comes highly recommended medicine to which no one can object—celery. It tastes good, and is said to be one of the most potent nervines known. The time to take it is when you please, and the dose is as much as you want. All affected with the nervousness in any form are encouraged to hope for an effectual cure by the daily use of celery.

The latest story of a brave though childlike form faithful at the post of duty comes from Ohio. He was the son of a village reporter, and having discovered a broken rail on the road just out of town, sat for five hours on a fence near by waiting for the train, so that he might carry the particulars of the accident to his father. Such devotion to the paternal interest is very affecting.

CITY.

[illegible] ON THE FLY."—A long and spirited [illegible] yesterday forenoon in this city be[illegible] soldier and a Sergeant who [illegible] from Vancouver. The Sergeant, [illegible] leisurely about the streets suddenly [illegible] one of the deserters who left Vancou[illegible] ago. He forthwith laid forcible [illegible] the bold soldier boy, and remarked [illegible] I have you at last." The bold soldier [illegible] with "I guess not;" whereupon he [illegible] from the fraternal embrace of Mr. Ser[illegible] and fled like a "quarter horse." [illegible] pursued and pursuer took down First [illegible] for dear liberty, and the other [illegible]. On reaching Pine street the fleeing [illegible] up that street and made tracks for [illegible] hotly pursued by the redoubtable Ser[illegible] time, the chase had attracted much [illegible] and the vehement shouts of the Ser[illegible] stop that fellow," had caused many to [illegible] pursuit. The crowd thickened as the [illegible] so that when he arrived at Fourth [illegible] thirty persons were on his track, some [illegible] some in wagons, but the most on [illegible]. He was so closely pursued by his pursuers [illegible] found it necessary to run down Fourth [illegible]. However, just as the deserter reached B [illegible] dashed swiftly forward, and [illegible] and vigorous flank movement headed [illegible] the pursuers, led on by the panting [illegible] in, and his capture was an accom[illegible]. After his inglorious defeat the bold [illegible] back and committed to the City [illegible] until the steamer Vancouver [illegible]. He will be placed in the [illegible] until a court martial shall decide his [illegible] that this deserter is the identical [illegible] was captured at Kalama a few days [illegible], and subsequently broke jail and [illegible] taking a valuable skiff with [illegible] down the river. Nothing [illegible] of him until the unexpected en[illegible] morning. We do not wonder [illegible] and vigorous attempt to escape, [illegible] is not generally in the habit of [illegible] and larceny with much [illegible].

[illegible] MATERIAL.—We notice the [illegible] this State of the patent artifi[illegible] the [illegible] stone, and we learn [illegible] company is about to be formed [illegible] of carrying on the manufacture of [illegible] vicinity. A stone [illegible] in use, we are informed, [illegible] five years, in Europe, and has [illegible] the varied atmospheric [illegible] country; and a test of five years [illegible], while it has been subjected [illegible] of heat and cold, has [illegible] to atmospheric [illegible] by the seaside where it is [illegible] of an atmosphere from [illegible] equally durable. Emi[illegible] military engineers and architects [illegible] favorably upon its merits, and it [illegible] in the construction of the largest [illegible] San Francisco, Chicago and [illegible] all the ordinary tests it [illegible] able to learn, been [illegible] proof against the effects of [illegible] building material known, [illegible] exception of brick, which is [illegible] to be [illegible] for in this [illegible] yet discovered. A [illegible] applied at Salem [illegible] was unable to stand. It [illegible] to a white heat, and in [illegible] of cold water. [illegible] We have no further [illegible] if the [illegible] this statement is [illegible] it is [illegible] safe to say that [illegible] unequal to the [illegible] through [illegible]. We hope the com[illegible] will be [illegible] of the [illegible] industry to this [illegible].

SUNDAY SCHOOL.—The Congregational [illegible] Sunday Schools will give a picnic [illegible] the [illegible] on the [illegible] on Satur[illegible]. The [illegible] are that all [illegible] the two churches [illegible]; adults will [illegible] to pay fifty cents apiece. All par[illegible] with the above churches are re[illegible] at their respective [illegible] of [illegible] o'clock A. M., Saturday, when [illegible] Tickets will be for [illegible] of [illegible] to those chil[illegible] with the above [illegible] churches, [illegible]. The [illegible] Annie Stewart [illegible] at 8 o'clock A. [illegible] A. M. the bell of the Congre[illegible] will be [illegible] of the Baptist Sunday School [illegible] W. Traver, at the Odd Fel[illegible] First street, will furnish tickets to [illegible], to adults, fifty cents, to at[illegible] and Sunday School excursion [illegible] at Oregon City to-morrow.

[illegible] THE ACT.—The following good joke [illegible] of our young and rising limbs of the [illegible] young attorney was out riding a few [illegible] a handsome and charming young [illegible] the macadamized road. The couple [illegible] to the White House and were on [illegible] to the city. Coming to a lonely and [illegible] (as doubtless he thought) stretch of [illegible] the young scion of Coke and Blackstone [illegible] in an unguarded moment to im[illegible] smacking kiss on the lips of the guileless [illegible]. Of course such unwarrantable liberties, [illegible] by an ambitious and rising attorney, [illegible] promptly repelled by the indignant [illegible] blushed scarlet and remarked that he [illegible] be ashamed of himself. Such a rebuke [illegible] overwhelmed the attorney, and he was [illegible] of repeating the indignity when some [illegible] native wretch, who was working [illegible] and had been an unwilling witness [illegible] transaction, gave a loud "Ahem!" [illegible] kiss was indefinitely postponed.

[illegible].—The following [illegible] were drawn [illegible] at the June term of [illegible] Wm. A. Brown, farmer; Dan'l [illegible] Levi Anderson, Justice of the [illegible] Scott, farmer; Squire Hawkins, [illegible] Fred. C. [illegible]gdon, engineer; George M. [illegible] Wi[illegible]hardt, brewer; John [illegible] R. Thompson, speculator; [illegible]; Jeremiah Stanley, farm[illegible]; G. Shindler, furni[illegible] wood dealer; M. Walk[illegible] speculator; Clark Hay, [illegible] book-keeper; Wm. Wad[illegible] Winzingerode, tobacco[illegible]; Geo. L. D[illegible]; J. W. Burke, farmer; B. G[illegible]; H. H. Stolte, photo[illegible], farmer; S. G. Bunting[illegible]; C. L. Sheppard, milkman; J. S[illegible] John A. Slavin, farmer.

[illegible] habit of mooring a [illegible] landing is not always attended [illegible] excellence; at least the [illegible] skiff found it to be the case [illegible] so much as thinking that a [illegible] at the foot of Stark street, [illegible] left his skiff tied to one of the [illegible] where the wire ca[illegible]. Not more than ten minutes [illegible] the man had tied the boat when the [illegible] the slip. It required just pre[illegible] for the Katie Ladd [illegible] skiff to first-class kindling wood. [illegible] he didn't exactly swear, [illegible] in the most angelic frame of mind, [illegible] of adjectives he used about ferry [illegible] have put even Lindley Murray to [illegible].

[illegible] SERMONS.—An order has been [illegible] by the Grand Encampment of the [illegible] Grand Army of the Republic to the [illegible] the United States, to the effect [illegible] of the various denominations in [illegible] and towns where posts have been [illegible] be requested to deliver appropriate [illegible] on the Sabbath [illegible] preceding Decoration Day. In [illegible] with this order, we learn that several [illegible] ministers of Portland, at the re[illegible] of [illegible] Post No. 1, have cheerfully con[illegible] to their respective congregations [illegible] of the "Honored [illegible]."

[illegible].—Mr. H. D. Green has an inter[illegible] in the vacant block adjoining [illegible] in the shape of a young black bear. [illegible] is about the size of a full grown rac[illegible] lively, and possesses all the grace (?) [illegible] of the specie. We are unable to [illegible] the fellow was captured.

[illegible].—The little steamer Oneat[illegible] at Astoria a few days since [illegible] Bay, and was afterwards seized at [illegible] for not having legal papers, ar[illegible] night. What disposition will be [illegible], we are unadvised at present.

A BEAR LOOSE.—We have all read about, and witnessed the farce entitled a "Bull in a China Shop." Taurus is generally supposed to have made the crockery fly; but he certainly did not create such a momentary furore as Tom Mountain's Sitkain bear did when he turned himself loose on the steamship dock, Wednesday evening just as the Oriflamme landed. Such a scattering among the crowd was a caution, as followed the announcement, "Look out, the bear is loose." Bruin did not make any hostile demonstrations, notwithstanding he had an excellent opportunity to ascertain the peculiar flavor of human flesh. Tom, it seems, had kept him too well trained for that exercise. The bear went capering about the dock in a playful mood, and did not offer to practice with his teeth, and although he manifested much familiarity, his acquaintance was not extensively cultivated. Vociferous calls for a rope, were made by several persons, which was instantly brought and the bear secured before any one was harmed. A bear running loose on a dark wharf among a crowd of passengers, is not a very tranquilizing thought, or calculated to soothe one's nerves.

PUSHING THINGS.—A gentleman from Tenino and beyond informs us that Contractor Montgomery is hurrying things forward on the Northern Pacific Railroad. Mr. Harry Davis has the new mill near Tenino running both day and night. Three other large saw mills are in process of construction and will be ready to operate in the course of a few weeks. After the first six miles of railroad beyond Tenino are completed, the track laying will progress very rapidly. For that distance—six miles—the road will require almost one continual stretch of trestle work.

MOVED UP.—"Time and tide wait for no man," neither does the Wallamet river in its upward march. During the last eight and forty hours the water has submerged a portion of the lower wharf of the O. S. N. Company, requiring a temporary evacuation of the premises until a subsidence follows. Freight is now received upon the upper wharf and discharged therefrom. Present appearances would indicate that a similar change of base will be necessary soon at the Steamship Company's dock.

CHANGED TACTICS.—Warm weather of the past forty eight hours has caused a change of tactics in the plan of the impending summer freshet. For a few days past there had been a suspension of the dissolving agencies of nature, and the increasing volume of water in the Columbia river had ceased to augment. But the flood gates have, it would appear, been drawn aside. The river at Vancouver is once more coming up.

TO BE ROOFED.—Work on the building for the woolen mills at Oregon City is progressing with such rapidity that the roofing will be commenced next week. The firm of Messrs. Goldsmith & Lowenberg of this city have the contract of furnishing the tin for the roof. By the second week in June, the new building will be ready for the reception of the machinery, the first installment of which is daily expected to arrive.

OF GREAT VALUE.—A gentleman just from Linn county expressed the opinion to us yesterday that the late rain fall will be of incalculable benefit to the agricultural interests of that section of the country—and at least worth one million of dollars to the farmers of the Wallamet Valley. So far as we have been able to learn the rain fall appears to have been pretty generally distributed throughout the valley.

BROKEN LOOSE.—A large wharf boat, nearly 200 feet long, broke loose from its moorings at the Cascades on last Monday night and was drifted down the Columbia. At a very early hour on Tuesday morning the boat was observed passing Vancouver. No one at the Cascades knew that the wharf boat had escaped until the next morning. It had not been recovered at last accounts.

FREE PASSAGE.—We are requested to state that through the kindness of the Oregon and California Railroad Company and the O. S. N. Company, arrangements have been made by which representatives to the Grand Lodge of Good Templars, which meets in Albany June 10th, will be returned over these routes free on presentation of certificates from the Grand Secretary.

READY FOR DISTRIBUTION.—The Oregon State Directory, written and compiled by J. Mortimer Murphy, Esq., has been bound and will be ready for distribution to-day. The book contains several hundred pages of valuable and interesting matter concerning the resources of the State, and is got up in the highest style of the typographical art.

LAUNCHED.—The hull for the new steam tug at Westport, was launched from the ways some days ago. As yet no machinery has been placed in the hull, and it is quite probable will not be by the present owners, as the craft is offered for sale. This craft is said to have a splendid model and constructed in the most staunch manner possible.

SPECIAL TERM.—A special term of the Circuit Court will be held to-day by Judge Upton, and will probably continue through the week. No jury will be summoned, the object being to dispose of several important cases which were taken under advisement at the last regular term of Court.

RETURNED.—The pilot schooner California, which was taken to San Francisco some time ago to undergo repairs, arrived at Astoria on Wednesday. She has been thoroughly overhauled from hull to rigging. This vessel is now ready for duty whenever her services are required.

OPPOSITE CANEMAH.—The Sunday schools of Oregon City will hold a picnic to-day opposite Canemah on the grounds occupied by the Red Men on the 12th of the month. Should the weather prove fair, a good time is expected among the little folks.

PICNIC.—The Catholic Sunday School of Vancouver gave a picnic on last Tuesday. On the day following the Methodist Sunday School also gave a picnic. Both occasions proved pleasurable affairs and were keenly enjoyed by the little folks.

ROUNDLY FINED.—The two hotel runners who were arrested on Wednesday evening for fighting on the steamship dock were arraigned yesterday in the Police Court. After hearing the testimony the court fined each defendant $10 and costs.

APPOINTED A CADET.—We learn that Hon. J. G. Wilson, Representative to Congress from Oregon, has appointed Edward Donovan, eldest son of Mr. John Donovan of this city, to a cadetship in the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md.

RELIGIOUS INTELLIGENCE.

RELIGIOUS, LOCAL AND GENERAL.

[From the P. C. Advocate.]

A camp meeting will be held on Rock Creek camp ground, Rock Creek Circuit, commencing on Thursday, the 19th of June.

Rev. J. F. DeVore returned from Astoria by the ocean steamer of last evening. He reports a favorable quarterly meeting at Oysterville.

June 5th has been fixed upon as the time, and the camp ground near Cowlitz Station as the place, for holding a camp meeting for Cowlitz and Kalama charges.

Rev. William Roberts occupied the pulpit at Fairview and Powell Valley last Sabbath for Bro. McCain. The meetings are reported as very interesting. At Fairview Bro. Roberts talked to the Sabbath school and baptized five persons.

The camp meeting for Milwaukie Circuit will be held on the old camp ground in Powell's Valley, embracing the third and fourth Sabbaths in July, commencing Thursday before the third Sabbath and continuing over the fourth Sabbath.

Mr. Christopher Hoberg and family arrived by the steamer of last week. Mr. Hoberg is a junior brother of Rev. J. Hoberg, at present pastor of Brownsville Circuit. We extend to these new comers a hearty welcome, and trust they will be well pleased with Oregon.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Mr. John Hunter has placed the Bay View House at Unity, W. T., in excellent order. When you go down to the coast this summer, go over to Baker's Bay and stop at this popular resort. Clams, oysters and fish are numerous thereabouts.

Those desirous of procuring first class billiard tables, will consult P. Liesenfeld, Market street, San Francisco. See advertisement.

W. Friedlander, opposite the Post office, still continues with his New York prices for Watch work. He charges for cleaning a watch ONLY two dollars, for a mainspring, $1 50, for watch-glass, 25 cents.

Whooping cough, our correspondent informs us, is prevailing at Oregon City to a considerable extent, affecting somewhat the attendance at the schools.

Oregon has two hundred and forty two postoffices. Multnomah county has the least with the exception of Curry. Washington Territory has 125 postoffices.

It is about time the boating men should come together and show what they know about rowing or yachting. A trial of speed in front of the city will draw a big crowd.

All young men who wish to belong to a base ball club are requested to meet this (Friday) evening at the hall over Eikelss' store on Washington street. By order of the Chairman.

A surveying party, who were out in the northern part of the city, report having found the skeleton of man on the corner of Sixteenth and Q streets. What disposition was made of it we did not learn. We presume the Coroner will be notified of the circumstance.

PERSONAL.

H. F. Cutter, Esq., Agent and one of the Directors of the Pacific Land Company, has been sojourning in the city for several days. He will take his departure on the Oriflamme, for San Francisco, this evening.

The firm of S. M. Pettengill & Co. desire us to state, and we do so with pleasure, that the agency will be continued in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, notwithstanding a recent change in the firm. This firm has been twenty five years in existence, and their transactions we have found to be business like in every particular.

Mrs. F. F. Victor, the authoress of "River of the West," "All Over Oregon and Washington," besides various other productions of acknowledged literary merit throughout the land, returned on the last steamer after a protracted visit to the East. The many friends of this estimable lady and talented writer will be pleased to learn of her safe return to the State of her adoption, which is proud to claim her as one of her most gifted daughters, after so long an absence. Mrs. Victor will remain in the city a few days, and then take her departure for Southern Oregon.

INDIAN BRAWL.

Our regular Oregon City correspondent sends the following particulars concerning an Indian brawl which occurred on the Clackamas river, just below the town, a few days ago: It appears that two "braves," named respectively John and Frank, had been on the north side of the Clackamas river, on Tuesday last, and by some unaccountable means obtained whisky enough to make them both drunk. When about to return to the south side of the river Frank, feeling very tired, requested John to assist him in walking across the railroad bridge. John, feeling that it was all he could do to take care of himself, declined. When both reached the south side Frank declared he would kill John for refusing to lend him aid in time of need, and, suiting his action to his word, fell upon him with a knife and inflicted a terrible blow in the vicinity of the heart. Dr. Straight, living in the vicinity, was summoned, made an examination, and found that the knife had fortunately struck the sternum bone, failing to reach the heart, and made an ugly but not a dangerous wound. These facts, or statements, were developed in Justice A. C. Bailey's court, yesterday. A warrant was issued for the arrest of Frank and delivered to Deputy Sheriff C. F. Beatie, who, in a few hours had him in jail. On examination he was bound over to answer at next term of Court.

MEETING OF CITIZENS' COMMITTEE.

The delegations of citizens from each ward, who, by the published address of a large number of other citizens, were requested to nominate a ticket for the approaching municipal election, met together at Philharmonic Hall on Wednesday evening, 21st inst., and organized by choosing W. S. Ladd as Chairman, and P. C. Schuyler as Secretary.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we do individually and as a Committee, collectively accept the trust which we have been invited to assume by the address of citizens published this morning, and that we will, upon mature deliberation, such as is demanded by the importance of the object aimed at, in due time propose a ticket for city officers, which we will use our best endeavors to make in harmony with the spirit of the aforesaid address, and acceptable to a large majority of the citizens of Portland.

After transacting necessary preliminary business, the meeting adjourned to Tuesday evening next.

Commencement, Monday, June 4th.

Address before the Literary Societies Tuesday evening, June 3d, by Rev. J. D. Eaton, of Portland.

Baccalaureate sermon by the President Sunday morning, June 1st.

Mr. John Kennedy, formerly of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with Fleischner & Crone, where he will be pleased to wait upon his friends and customers, with one of the largest and finest stocks of boots and shoes on the coast. He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom-made shoes.

For a fashionable suit of clothing, and the necessary outfit to make the attire of a well dressed man complete, call at J. O'Neil & Co.'s, where a new stock of cloths and furnishing goods have been placed upon the counters and shelves, ready for the inspection of customers. They furnish you with anything you desire at moderate rates, and will fill orders with dispatch.

A first class photograph is worth a good price. A poor one is of no value whatever. Therefore the motto of Buchtel & Stolte is—Superior work, equal to any in the United States, for which we demand a good price, and receive the same. Our new Viewing Wagon, for Scenic Views, is now ready, and all orders for pictures of buildings, etc., promptly attended to, at the First Premium Gallery, No. 91 First street, Portland, Oregon.

Corn and flour are staple articles, but not more so than Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, where known. It is good for children or adults, for any internal soreness of the [illegible] or bowels, and the best Liniment prepared, under whatever name.

For the Oregonian.

What's the Matter!

The people, it seems, have taken a notion
To act just about as they please,
Thus causing a suddenly wild commotion
With the Custom House conferrees,
Who are running about with bees
In their bonnets and shakes in their knees,
Importunately beseeching the reason
We don't let them fix up, this season,
The wires and strings,
The ticket and things,
In their round little rings
As they've been accustomed to do.

Down they pounce on Tom, Dick and Harry,
With wonderful swagger to scare ye
They threaten, they blow and they bluster,
And the lion's roar they try to muster.
But noticing sharp the people all say,
The noise is nothing at all but a bray

Like the planter, with cudgel and whip in hand,
They pompously bid the people to stand,
While a thorough "explanation" they demand,
Why we should e'er presume to sneeze,
Until at first to cough they please.
But the people don't stop,
Nor the people don't flop
When Simon says wiggle or wag,
But calm as a clam
They don't care a —
For Custom House bluster and brag,
"And that's what's the matter"

"Mr. Story, retrench," the Bulletin cries
"Retrench then it is," Mr. Story replies,
And retrenching, he gives that paper a rap
To lessen its charges or forfeit its pap.

HUMOROUS.

St. Louis is to erect a new merchants' exchange building, at a cost of $1,200,000.

"Is dem bells ringin' for fire, Tiberius?" No, sir; dey got plenty o' fire, dem bells is ringin' for water!"

The Pioche (Nevada) News is obliged either to enlarge itself or publish nothing but murders, and chooses the former alternative.

A Southern newspaper advertises for a young freckled-faced man, that won't back down, with a pair of saddle-bags, pistol, and bowie knife, to collect for that paper.

An Irish paper concludes a biography of Robespierre with the following sentence: "This extraordinary man left no children except his brother, who was killed at the same time."

Thirty years ago a man living near La Crosse sold a pair of boots for a gun, traded the gun for a pony, sold the pony for thirty acres of swamp land, and now owns sixty-six city lots worth $800 each.

A horse-car driver in Chicago gave a penny over to twenty different passengers, to try their honesty, and nineteen of them kept the money, while the other one swore that four cents more were due him.

The Porto Rico slaves that were sent to Cuba and sold, in anticipation of the emancipation decree applicable to Porto Rico, resist their new masters, refuse to work, and are only controlled by military force.

At Waterford, Conn., a boy six years old, who sang a minstrel song on Sunday, was arrested and his father fined eight dollars and costs. Yet in Connecticut clock-makers work all day Sunday when behind their orders.

Very fashionable ladies find it impossible to navigate Fifth avenue unless they are towed by elaborately gotten-up Spits dogs. A placard on the breast with "Pity the blind" gorgeously illuminated thereon, is the anticipated adjunct to promenade toilets.

It isn't always best to call things by their right names. A young gentleman called a coach dog a Dalmatian hound, and was informed by his fiancee that if he could not refrain from profanity in her presence they must henceforth be strangers.

There is a gentleman out West who feels considerably taken down. He remarked to his wife that it was lucky he didn't meet Miss [illegible] before he got married, and his wife unfeelingly put in her oar and said, "Yes, lucky for her." The custody of the children has been awarded to the wife.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattress, go to Hurgren & Shindler.

DRESS WELL.—The young man who desires his "make-up" complete should always select the place where the articles desired can be obtained. For a neat-fitting suit, made of the very finest materials, the public is directed to the house of Fishel & Roberts, an establishment which ranks with the leading houses on the coast. The stock is complete, the attention paid to customers, and the promptness with which orders are filled, at once commends this house to all.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

"A Wonder of Medical Science" may well be applied to Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is nearly half a century since this remarkable remedy was introduced to the public, and yet the immediate and enviable reputation which it gained by its wonderful cures of coughs, colds, whooping cough, sore throat, influenza, consumption, and all bronchial complaints, is to this day fully sustained.

PERSONAL.—Dr. Helmbold to the front again. We are glad to see that during the Doctor's temporary residence in Europe the supply of his genuine Extract Buchu (the only known specific for urinary disorders and obscure complaints in either sex) has been supplied from his formula and apparatus by his representative here. The genuine article bears the Doctor's signature, and is probably the best known and most valuable remedy of the kind in the world. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

The all-gone feeling which people sometimes speak of, is caused by want of proper action of the liver and heart. These may be assisted and the bowels regulated by Parson's Purgative Pills in small doses.

If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E. D. Tyne's, northwest corner of Oak and First streets, agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co.'s fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

A monument as big as the grand pyramid might be built of the teeth that have been ruined by neglect. Shall this thing go on in face of the great fact that SOZODONT is a certain preservative of dental decay.

LYON'S
KATHAIRON
Only 50 Cents per Bottle.
It promotes the GROWTH, PRESERVES the COLOR, and increases the Vigor and BEAUTY of the HAIR.
OVER THIRTY YEARS AGO LYON'S KATHAIRON FOR THE HAIR was first placed in the market by Professor E. Thomas Lyon, a graduate of Princeton College. The name is derived from the Greek "KATHRO," signifying to cleanse, purify, rejuvenate, or restore. The favor it has received, and the popularity it has obtained, is unprecedented and incredible. It increases the GROWTH and BEAUTY of the HAIR. It is a delightful dressing. It eradicates dandruff. It prevents the Hair from turning gray. It keeps the head cool, and gives the hair a rich, soft, glossy appearance. It is the SAME in QUANTITY and QUALITY as it was over a QUARTER of a CENTURY AGO, and is sold by all Druggists and Country Stores at only 50 Cents per Bottle.

Woman's Glory is Her Hair.

Queer Epitaphs.

In its review of "A Book on Epitaphs, compiled by Charles Northend," the New York Tribune says:

Among the kinds of monomania to which infatuated students are subject, one of the most remarkable is a passion for exploring the dreary records of the churchyards. Old Mortality we believe was content with restoring the moss-covered inscriptions on the old gray stones, but we do not learn that he devoted his precious time to announcing their contents to the public. One of the most enthusiastic collectors in this kind was Timothy Alden, the founder and President of Meadville College, who has left five curious volumes as a memorial of his interest in funereal inscriptions. They contain a singular variety of epitaphs gathered by personal research in many different quarters, some of which, apart from their quaint infelicity of expression, can claim a certain antiquarian and historical interest. The present little work is constituted on a different plan from that of the renowned churchyard Timothy. It consists of copies of monumental inscriptions, taken from different books on the subject, rather than from personal observation, and selected for their whimsical or humorous character, in odd contrast with the gravity of the subject. Some of the most piquant of these epitaphs are of English origin. Here is one on Mr. Pepper, a Publican, at St. Johns, Stamford, Lincolnshire:

"Hot by name, but mild by nature,
He brew'd good ale for every creature;
He brew'd good ale, and sold it, too,
And unto each one gave his due."

The following wretched effusion of ghastly puns is from Hackney Churchyard to the memory of Peter Stiller:

"As still as Death poor Peter lies,
A Stiller when alive was he;
Still not without a hope to rise,
Though Stiller then he still will be."

In Doncaster Churchyard is this couplet:

"Here lie [illegible] by misfortune surrounded,
One dy'd of his wounds & the other was drownded."

The following lines are over the remains of Robert Trollop, architect of the Exchange and Town Hall, Newcastle, England:

"Here lies Robert Trollop,
Who made yon stones roll up,
When death took his soul up,
His body filled this hole up."

In Oxfordshire the following lines appear on a headstone:

"Here lies the body of John Eldred,
At least he will be when he is dead,
But now at this time he is alive,
[illegible] of August, sixty-five."

In the churchyard of St. John's, in the old city of Chester, the following lines are commemorative of one Sarah Booth:

"A good wife, a tender mother,
It was hard to find out such another;
In life she lived, in peace she died,
[illegible] was not denied."

On the tombstone of a smuggler, killed by the Excise Officer, is the following:

[illegible]

Over the grave of a man and wife, whose married life was somewhat contentious, is the following expressive and comprehensive line:

"Their warfare is [illegible]."

In a tombstone near [illegible] the following lines are taken:

"Here lies the body of Nancy H. Gwyn,
Who was so very pure within
A [illegible] her outer shell of sin
And [illegible]."

As an illustration of the exigencies of rhyme, an English author cites the following epitaph from a tombstone at Manchester:

"[illegible] the city,
All [illegible] of St. Nicholas Newcity.
N. B. His name was Newtown."

But the English epitaphs more than find their match in American graveyards. In a churchyard near Hartford, Conn., is the following:

"[illegible] two [illegible], so [illegible] as sits;
De [illegible] he kilt [illegible] mit his ague fits.
When dey was too great to live mit me,
He [illegible] up to live mit He,
So he did."

An inscription on a tombstone in East Tennessee [illegible]:

[illegible] a life of virtue and died of the cholera [illegible] fruit, in the hope of a [illegible], at the early age of 21 years, [illegible] and do likewise.

The following, which is suggestive to coffee [illegible] in Ocean [illegible]:

[illegible] like early fruit,
[illegible]

Here [illegible] a loving husband:

[illegible]

The following is [illegible] in Maine, and [illegible]:

[illegible] who [illegible] who [illegible] qualified [illegible] in this village.

The volume closes with a little sage advice on the subject of epitaphs, with [illegible] good taste.

At St. Edmunds Bury, England:

[illegible] who, when her [illegible] was spent, [illegible] and away she went.

From Manchester, England:

Here lies John Hill,
A man of skill,
His age was five times ten,
He ne'er did good,
Nor ever would,
Had he lived as long again.

A tombstone in Burlington, Iowa, has this stanza:

Beneath this stone our baby lays,
He neither cries nor hollers;
He lived just one and twenty days
And cost us forty dollars.

[illegible] the grave of a little child is this couplet:

[illegible] she on this world did peep,
[illegible] it, she shut her eyes and went to sleep.

The following is said to be on a tombstone near [illegible]:

[illegible] the Shiell has gone away,
Her would [illegible] if she could, but her couldn't stay;
Her had 2 bad legs and a baddish cough;
It was her two bad legs that carried her off.

Near San Diego, Cal., a tombstone inscription [illegible]:

[illegible] to the memory of [illegible] who came to his
[illegible] by Colts revolver [illegible]
[illegible] of heaven

In a town of Connecticut a man died who had [illegible] on his head. On the tombstone is a [illegible] of the head and man and the following lines:

Our father lies beneath the sod,
His spirit's gone unto his God,
We [illegible] more shall hear his tread,
Nor see the [illegible] upon his head.

On a tombstone in Portland, Maine, over the body of a child, is this couplet:

The little hero who lies here
Was [illegible] by diarrhea.

The following is the epitaph of Sheil, an Irish orator:

Here lie I, there's an end to my [illegible],
[illegible] spirits at [illegible],
With the tip of my nose, and the ends of my toes,
[illegible] up [illegible] the roots of the [illegible].

[illegible] Worcester, England:

Thomas and I together lived,
Just two years and a half;
She went first—I followed next,
The cow before the calf.

The following is from Ohio:

Under this sod
And [illegible]
Lieth the body
Of Solomon Pease.
He's not in this hole,
But only his pod,
He shelled out his soul
And went up to his God.

The following lines are on a tombstone in Childwall, England:

Here lies me and my three daughters,
Brought here by using Seidlitz waters;
If we had stuck to Epsom salts
We shouldn't have been in these here vaults.

Some wretch of a husband placed these scandalous lines on his wife's tombstone in Kilmurry churchyard:

This [illegible] was [illegible] by Sarah's lord,
Not Sarah's virtues to record—
For they're well-known to all the town—
But it was raised to keep her down.

From Cape May:

[illegible] aged 11 years and 8 months,
She was not smart, she was not fair,
But hearts with grief for her are swell'n,
And empty stands her little chair—
She died of eatin' watermellin.

The following is from a tombstone in New Jersey:

My friend, pray don't waste your time
On bad biography and bitter rhyme
For what I am this crumbling clay insures,
And what I was is no affair of yours.

A tombstone in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, bears the following inscription:

Din, Dan, my passing bell,
Fare you well my mother,
Burie me in my own churchyard
Beside my own dear Brother.
When I die my Cofin is Black
With six Brit. Angils on my back
Too to sing and too to pray
And [illegible] to carry my Sole away.

Salting a Mine in Utah.

A NEW ORLEANS CAPITALIST TAKEN IN A WEALTHY VICTIM.

[From the Virginia Enterprise.]

General I. F. Harrison, of Salt Lake City, in a card to the Tribune of that place, develops an unusally cold-blooded mining swindle, of which he was one of the victims. He gives the names of the men concerned in the affair, and expresses a willingness to fight them all. The story is to this effect: Last December Colonel W. J. Jones and Colonel Tichnor visited New Orleans with two silver bricks, which they represented were taken from mines owned by or bonded to them in Camp Floyd Mining District, Utah. They also brought with them assays which were well calculated to attract the attention of capitalists. The gentlemen played their cards so well that the mines were sold for $165,000, the payments to be made, if we understand the card of General Harrison, when the glowing reports of Colonels Jones and Tichnor should be verrified by a Committee of the purchasers selected to proceed to Utah and examine the mines. The Committee consisted of Judge Lerisse, General Hays and Pinckney Smith. They went to Utah and visited the property, finding on the dumps a considerable quantity of ore, which they were assured came from the mines for which they were negotiating. They had the ore assayed, and

THE RESULT ASTONISHED THEM

And they returned to New Orleans and recommended that the bargain be closed at once, which was accordingly done. General Harrison was chosen Superintendent of the company and proceeded to Utah to develop the mines. The General says:

I was honored by my fellow-stockholders with the appointment of Superintendent of the property. Left New Orleans with fond anticipations, and arrived at the mine on the 9th of April. Commenced operations, and after about two weeks investigation I became convinced that the property was worthless. I obtained from the so-called vein, which the Committee had examined, a number of specimens and had them assayed, with the following results:

J. McVicker's certificate of assay shows "no value in lead, gold, silver or any of the heavy metals."

Messrs. Selby & Gunter's certificate of assays shows "silver, not a trace."

The General then traced the silver bricks exhibited in New Orleans to the Chicago Swansea Works, where they were purchased by Colonel Jones and Tichnor, and summoned to the mines a number of reliable experts, who unanimously agreed that General Harrison was superintendent of nothing more valuable than a reef of limestone.

THE VICTIM'S CARD.

The conclusion of the General's card is rather pointed. It is as follows:

I shall go immediately to my house in New Orleans, gather up the remnant of my fortune and return to Salt Lake on the 1st of June next, hoping by honest endeavor to retrieve what has been lost, by becoming permanently identified with the great productive industry which will make Utah famous in the nation's history, as well as the wealthiest portion of the Union.

The villains who have robbed me, as well as the widow and the orphan, of the pittance they possessed, I hereby openly denounce by name: Major J. D. Wooley, Colonel W. J. Jones, Colonel A. C. Tichnor and William Gardner, as scoundrels deserving the hangman's rope, as well as cowards, too mean to earn an honest living.

I will be at the Walker House, Salt Lake City, until the evening of the 4th of May, and again on the 1st of June next, where, if any of the persons named have any unsettled business with me, I am at their service.

The Tribune intimates that these statements are true. If so, there are some sharp operators in Utah.

Not long ago Signor Rubin, an agent of the People's Bank of Florence, was robbed and murdered at Viterbo, Italy. Grasped in in the dead man's hand were a few hairs of a red beard. It was evident that the unfortunate Rubin, in struggling with his assassins, had seized one of them by the beard. The next step was to discover what individual having access to Rubin's house wore a red beard. It was then remembered that the servant of Rubin had a lover, a dyer, named [illegible], whose hair and beard were red. He was arrested, and his house searched. Under a stove nearly 1,000 florins were discovered, and several portions of his clothing were found to be stained with blood.

As some lady visitors were recently going through a penitentiary, under the escort of the superintendent, they came to a room in which three women were sewing. "Dear me!" one of the visitors whispered, "what vicious looking creatures! Pray, what are they here for?" "Because they have no other home. This is our sitting-room, and they are my wife and two daughters," blandly answered the superintendent.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE

Financial.

THURSDAY EVENING, May 22, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 117¾.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 85½ buying; 86½ selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

Wheat in Liverpool—Average California, 12s 3d@12s 4d; club, 12s 6d.

The business of the week so far has been fully up to the expectation of merchants, and notwithstanding croakers are found who insist that "the times are as dull and money as tight as ever," business men for the most part seem to think that the worst is past, and that before the close of the Spring trade we will enjoy a very fair degree of prosperity. Rates of 2 per cent are regular at 1 per cent at the banks, and on the street range from 1½@2 per cent on good paper. As a matter of course, borrowers are required to furnish the most ample security, but this is no more than could be expected in these days, when men can rush into a Court of Bankruptcy, so easily and legally settle all [illegible]. But when the security is forthcoming, we are inclined to think that money can be had on what has always been deemed "very terrible terms" in Portland, though such terms might be considered exorbitantly high in other places. Money has never been worth less than 10 per cent per annum in Oregon, though it may have occasionally brought less.

Miscellaneous.

An advance of from a half to one cent per pound on all grades of coffee has taken place in San Francisco, and a corresponding rise is noted in our market.

In consequence of a scarcity of broom corn, manufacturers on this coast have marked up their prices about 75 per cent.

We learn that some lots of wheat have changed hands at Harrisburg this week at 70 cents per bushel.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The week which we have specially under review has been one of considerable excitement, but no very great fluctuations in the prices have occurred. At the beginning $1 60 ℔ cental was freely offered, and buyers found that there could be a large supply had at that price. So after securing sufficient to supply their immediate wants, and under advices from San Francisco they reduced their offers first to $1 57½ and then to $1 55, at which it is now firm. The receipts are gradually falling, being for the present week one-fourth less than last.

FLOUR—The market is hardly in such full supply as at our last report, though all demand can be readily met. The predictions of an advance in rate will probably fail of fulfillment, as the price of Wheat has again receded. Trade is fair and dealers are firmly holding at $5 ℔ bbl for best brands, $4 75@$4 75 for good country brands, $4 for Fine, and $3 75 for Superfine. The Puritan has received about 600 tons of her cargo for China, and we are informed that the remainder will be forthcoming as rapidly as the vessel is ready for it.

OATS—Trade is not active, as horsemen fear the epizooty, when this grain becomes useless for feed, and farmers have about finished seeding, and require no more for that purpose. The receipts have been less than half as great as last week. Jobbers here decline to pay more than 55c ℔ bushel, sacks included.

BARLEY—Quotations are nominally furnished at $1 40@1 50 ℔ cwt. We hear of no transactions. Small lots would be freely taken at current rates.

HAY—Good baled timothy has been sold on the wharf at $15 ℔ ton, though a slight advance might be obtained for best quality.

FEED—During the week some decline has been noted. The supply is fair and quotations are weaker at $30 ℔ ton for shorts, middlings, etc., and $20 for bran, as jobbers paying rates.

POTATOES—Small lots of 2¼a3c ℔ ℔, and the market is well supplied with last year's crop at a very low figure, some, though of inferior variety, selling at 15c ℔ bushel. Best of old at 35c.

ONIONS—Of the last year's crop the supply is limited to a few small lots, for which the nominal quotations are 4@5c ℔ ℔.

APPLES—But few in the market and prices have undergone no change for the week, the season being about closed.

DRIED FRUIT—We quote dried apples in sacks at 5@8½c ℔ ℔, and in new kegs at 7a7½c. Pitless plums are in supply at 14@15c ℔ ℔.

BACON—During the week so far the receipts have been nearly up to average, and prices have been steadily maintained at 11@11½c ℔ ℔ for sides, 8@9c for shoulders, and 14@18c for hams, with an advance for fancy cut and established brands.

LARD—The supply of Oregon-made is full and prices weak at 11c ℔ ℔ in kegs, and 12a12½c in tins.

BUTTER—We note large receipts almost daily, and except for the very best fresh dairy for table use, prices are low and weak. Choice lots of roll are offering at 17@20c ℔ ℔, while common, in kegs, boxes, barrels, etc., vary from 10 to 15c.

EGGS—Jobbers are still offering only 16c ℔ dozen, and are securing large lots at that figure.

CHICKENS—There are only small lots in the market, and prices are unchanged since last report.

HIDES—The demand is less active, and prices, though unchanged, are weaker at 7c for green and 14@15c for dry.

WOOL—The spring clip is coming to hand slowly, but little good shearing weather having yet been enjoyed. There are but few buyers in this market now, and these offer only 20c ℔ ℔ at which we give no advice to holders to sell, though the future of the market is uncertain.

Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Flour—Very quiet; extra jobbing, $5 50@6.

Wheat—First of the new crop expected to arrive in three weeks, already there is a disposition to sell for July and August at $1 87½@1 90. It is said that one lot of 500 tons has been contracted for at $1 85. Four vessels have been secured to load, making nine, with a capacity for about 11,000 tons cargo. Surplus in the State is estimated at 25,000 to 30,000 tons. The market is apparently firm at $1 90 for good shipping grades. Sale of 500 sks choice milling, $1 95.

Barley—Feed, $1 25@1 35, brewing, $1 35@1 50. Sale of 600 sks do, $1 42½.

Oats—Market depressed, prices down to $1 95@2 15. Oregon has sent about 70,000 sks this season, received 3,332 from Omaha within the past six weeks.

Hay—Twelve tons inferior old, $11, 25 tons choice new wheat, $19 75; all kinds, $10@20.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Oriflamme will sail hence for San Francisco to-morrow (Friday) evening.

The steamship Ajax is announced to leave San Francisco for this port on Saturday, the 24th inst., at noon.

The British ship Red Deer, which sailed hence for Cork on November 19th, 1872, with 22,000 centals wheat, is reported to have arrived at Liverpool, April 30th.

The bark Windward was loading in Swantow, China, for San Francisco, April 8th.

The British ship Martland, from Peru, arrived at Victoria on the 12th inst.

The bark Amie sailed from that port for Shanghai on the 8th.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Sailed to-day—Mindora, Cork; War Hawk, Port Discovery, Martha Rideout, Port Blakely; Atlanta, Port Townsend, Shooting Star, Nanaimo; Concordia, Coos Bay.

A GREAT DISCOVERY.

NO MORE GRAY HAIR OR WHISKERS IF YOU will use J. LIPMAN'S HAIR RESTORER. This is not a vile compound, made of Sugar of Lead, Lac Sulphur, and other poisonous minerals, which will produce headache, paralysis or insanity, but a harmless preparation, free from sediment, easily applied, and in a brief space of time restoring the hair or whiskers to their natural color. No preparation is necessary to use with it, but simply to apply according to directions accompanying each bottle. This is the cheapest, safest and best hair restorer ever offered to the public.

DR. C. G GLASS.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary.

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases of years standing and Ulcerated Legs [illegible] fully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of self indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying [illegible] see that they are cared for and [illegible] be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or [illegible] is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, [illegible] and the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flush, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply [illegible] in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove [illegible] to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED!

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these [illegible], should not forget the [illegible] nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON [illegible] will give to such patient a written [illegible] radical and permanent cure, or [illegible].

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating [illegible] and [illegible] promptly forwarded, [illegible], to any part of the country, with full and [illegible] By [illegible] through the Post Office or by Wells, Fargo & Co. [illegible] of the Union.

All [illegible].

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco [illegible] and print [illegible] who, with [illegible], decoy the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly papers of San Francisco and other places, are [illegible] and [illegible] too lazy to work at their trade. [illegible] newspaper [illegible], intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising doctors, in eight cases out of ten are [illegible], there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus [illegible] certificates, printed [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will [illegible] one who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

[illegible] will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian.

To Contractors.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE UNDERsigned, appointed superintendent by the County Court of Clackamas County, Oregon, will let a contract for the construction of a BRIDGE ACROSS THE CLACKAMAS RIVER, on the road leading from Oregon City to Portland. Such contract will be let to the lowest responsible bidder, at public outcry, at the Court House door on MONDAY, 2d DAY OF JUNE A. D. 1873, at the hour of 1 o'clock, P. M., subject to the right of the County Court of said County to reject such bid, if the same should exceed the sum such Court is willing to appropriate toward the construction thereof.

Such Bridge will be [illegible], either according to Smith Patent Truss, with aprons, or two spans of 150 feet each, with aprons, if built according to the plans of the old Casey bridge, at the same point. Bids will be received according to each plan.

Particular plans and specifications for each proposed style may be seen upon application to me after this date, and the successful bidder may expect to give bonds for the due execution of his contract.

Dated Oregon City, Oregon, May 8, 1873.
